Chapter 1: Getting started with ionic3

Remarks

This section provides an overview of what ionic3 is, and why a developer might want to use it.

It should also mention any large subjects within ionic3, and link out to the related topics. Since the Documentation for ionic3 is new, you may need to create initial versions of those related topics.

Examples

Installation or Setup

In this version change, Ionic has upgraded to Angular 4, a most recent version of TypeScript and some structural changes but starting an ionic project continues being similar to Ionic 2 so if you need more detailed information you could refer to that doc:

Starting up Ionic 3 project

Make sure you have the latest version of Ionic:

```
npm install -g ionic@latest
```

After that you can start your Ionic 3 project:

```
ionic start
```

It will prompt you the name of the project and what type of Ionic Application you want to create, It also have some example projects.

If you don't want to initialize a git repo for the project, you have to use ionic start with the parameter `--no-git`

ionic start --no-git
```

To test the application you can run the following command:

```
ionic serve --lab
```

It will simulate the application in your default web browser.
